No.	Question	Answer
1	he graphic design team should demonstrate the availability of three core team members dedicated to the working process of product design and delivery", but it says that we have to send only the CV and a few other things of only the Senior Designer. How do we "demonstrate the availability of three core team members" and "the proven experience in illustration and animation, one with experience in web design and interactive product development"? Is there a form that we have to fill?	Only the proposed senior designer needs to be supported with relevant documentation such as the CV as per form in Annex 3, portfolio and contact references of similar assignments of the senior designer
